

Year 3

History Spring 1

China's national animal

The Silk Road— different routes from Europe to Asia.

A wattle and daub house in China

Marco Polo— The Great explorer:

Marco Polo was a great merchant and explorer from Venice. He travelled to China in 1274 and stayed there for 24 years. He was one of the first people from Europe to travel to China, so he wrote a book about his adventures to teach others about life outside of Europe.

Vocabulary:

Word:	Definition:
Silk Road	The name of the routes from China to Europe. There was more than one route.
Naval	The use of ships for battles etc
Caravan	A group of people, especially traders or pilgrims, travelling together across a desert in Asia or North Africa.
Venice	A place in Northern Italy.
Merchant	Someone who travels and sells things.
Mongols	A person from Mongolia in Asia.
Khan	The leader of the Mongols. Genghis Khan is a famous leader.
Wattle	A structure created out of twigs being intertwined
Daub	A mixture of mud or clay and straw which is pressed into the wattle.
Trade	Any business between people selling goods.
Luxury	Items that are usually expensive and of great quality.